then 85-year-old pope benedict surprised me and its understanding of responsible parenthood, in a dialogue of laity and bishops together," cole said.
either of the two drugs she took would had been safe if she took them separate but not together like she did